Abstract: As sharing personal information online becomes easier, new privacy concerns emerge. In this study, we focus on Instagram, a new location-based photo sharing application. Through quantitative data analysis of a corpus of photos and their associated information, we identify how people disclose their locations when taking photos, as well as the what locations are often disclosed.

Bio: Yuheng Hu is an assistant professor at the University of Illinois at Chicago, College of Business Administration, Department of Information and Decision Sciences.